THE UNITED STATES NAVAL ACADEMY

The Academy Today

The United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland is the undergraduate college of the U. S. Navy. Its primary mission is to prepare young men for careers as officers in the U. S. Navy or the U. S. Marine Corps. The Academy is accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and graduates of its 4-year course are awarded the bachelor of science degree.

Under the Academy's recent validating, elective, minors and majors programs advanced undergraduate courses have become a reality for every midshipman. The Basic Curriculum consists of a Core Curriculum of 34 courses plus a minors program of six elective courses. A minimum of 137 semester hours is required for graduation.

The Core Curriculum is designed to give a midshipman the essential education in science, engineering, social science and the humanities, and Naval Science that he will need to perform effectively as an officer in the Naval Service. Completion of the minor contributes breadth of understanding in a field of particular interest to the midshipman.

Every midshipman is required to take or validate the Core Curriculum and select and complete a minor. Courses for which a midshipman is able to validate comparable college-level work may be omitted and electives substituted. In addition, capable midshipmen are permitted to carry more than the minimum number of courses.

Historical Sketch

The Naval Academy was founded as the Naval School in 1845 by the Honorable George Bancroft, historian, educator, and Secretary of the Navy. Its site, Fort Severn, was obtained from the

THE UNITED STATES NAVAL ACADEMY

War Department. The first Superintendent was Commander Franklin Buchanan. His eight-member faculty of five officers and three civilians taught gunnery, naval tactics, engineering, chemistry, mathematics, astronomy, French and English. About 60 midshipmen, formed in two classes, attended the Academy's first convocation.

Prior to 1845 the majority of a midshipman's training was conducted aboard ship under the ship's chaplain. Supplementary training was provided from time to time at various schools ashore. These included a short-lived school in the Washington Navy Yard established in 1803 and a naval school established in Philadelphia in 1839 to provide an eight-month preparatory course for midshipman promotion examinations.

Initially the course was five years. Of these, only the first and last were spent at the new Naval School in Annapolis. The intervening three were spent at sea. In 1850-51 the Naval School was reorganized as the United States Naval Academy. The course of study became four consecutive years. Summer practice cruises replaced the omitted sea service. Thus, today's basic four-year curriculum, supplemented by summer training cruises, first appeared at the Naval Academy over 100 years ago.

During the Civil War the Academy was moved to Newport, Rhode Island. In 1864 it was returned to Annapolis where it has since remained. In the years following a number of changes were made in the organization and curriculum. From 1873 to 1912 the academic course was six years, with the last two being spent at sea. In 1912 the two years at sea were omitted, and the course reverted to four years. During the Civil, Spanish-American, and World Wars the course was shortened to speed the flow of officers to the fleet. In addition, both World Wars saw the training of large classes of Reserve Officers and Midshipmen at the Academy.

On 25 May 1933 an Act of Congress authorized the Superintendent to confer the degree of bachelor of science upon all graduates from and after the date of the accrediting of the Academy by the Association of American Universities. Since the Association had previously accredited the Academy on 25 October 1930, graduates commencing with the Class of 1931 became eligible for the degree. By virtue of an Act of Congress approved on 8 July 1939, the Superintendent was authorized to confer the degree upon all living graduates. In May of 1947 the Naval Academy was accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The total number of graduates, including the Class of 1965, is 34,001.

THE UNITED STATES NAVAL ACADEMY

Revolutionary changes in the Academy's traditional curriculum began with the 1959-60 academic year when, for the first time, provision was made for incoming midshipmen to validate previous college-level work and to substitute alternate or elective courses for equivalent courses in the basic curriculum. Concurrently there was a broadening of course offerings and qualified midshipmen were encouraged to carry more than the minimum number of courses.

Academic Departments were incorporated into three major Academic Divisions under Division Directors reporting to the Superintendent: the Mathematics, Science, and Engineering Departments under the Director of Science and Engineering; the English, History and Government and Foreign Languages Departments under the Director of Social Science and Humanities; and the Command, Weapons, and Naval Hygiene Departments under the Director of Naval Science. In addition, the Physical Education Department joined the Executive Department under the Commandant of Midshipmen.

The 1963-64 Academic Year brought further changes. These included the appointment of a civilian Academic Dean (pro tem), the initiation of the Trident Scholar Program, and the conversion of the Academy's traditional 4.0-based marking system to the more widely used letter-grade system.

Under the Trident Program, a limited number of exceptional students are selected to engage in independent study and research during their first class (senior) year. Each scholar is assigned a faculty advisor. Scholars carry a reduced number of courses, and their research study and thesis constitutes the major part of their academic program for the year. The classes of 1964 and 1965 each included six scholars. The class of 1966 has eight.

The 1964-65 academic year brought additional improvements in the Academy's administrative organization and the most significant of recent changes in its curriculum. The civilian line positions of Academic Dean and Dean of Admissions were established, reporting directly to the Superintendent. Grouping of academic divisions under Division Directors was discontinued, and academic departments were placed directly under the Academic Dean.

The Academy's single, uniform Basic Curriculum was replaced by a flexible Basic Curriculum of core courses and an elected minor. Twenty-three minors and twenty-one majors were offered. Though sweeping, this most recent curriculum change followed logically the validation and electives programs begun at the Academy in 1959. Thus specialization, begun for some midshipmen in 1959, was insured for all midshipmen in 1964. The Class of 1968 was the first to enter the Academy under this program.

Increasing numbers of midshipmen have taken advantage of the Academy's new programs to complete advanced undergraduate work. Members of the most recent graduating class (1965), for example, were awarded 209 majors as compared with 152 for members of the Class of 1964 and 105 for the Class of 1963.

Improvement in the overall quality of incoming midshipmen has kept pace with recent academic improvements as measured by performance on College Boards, percentage of Merit Scholars, record of leadership achievement, and other key indicators. Further improvement is expected to result from special programs initiated in the fall of 1965-66 to attract Merit Scholars, Boys State participants, top-flight candidates from minority groups, and other highly qualified candidates.

Recent efforts to strengthen the faculty have brought impressive results. Doctorates in the civilian faculty have increased more than 50 percent during the past five years. In addition, the number of officers on the faculty with advanced degrees has increased more than 250 percent in just four years. Strengthening of the faculty is continuing.

Physical facilities have also improved greatly through the years. Acreage has increased from Fort Severn's 10 to today's 302 acres. Much of this increase has resulted from a series of landfills in the Severn River. The most recent landfill, completed in 1959, added 56 acres for athletic fields and new buildings. Construction of buildings in the present French Renaissance style began in 1899 with a Congressional appropriation of 10 million dollars. Mr. Earnest Flagg of New York was the architect.

Recent years have seen the addition of new wings to Bancroft Hall, the midshipmen's dormitory; the construction of a new field house for indoor athletics; the construction, with privately-donated funds, of the nearby Navy-Marine Corps Memorial Stadium; and the construction of a new Brigade Library and Assembly Hall. In addition, a multi-million dollar renovation of six of Bancroft Hall's eight wings has just been completed. Aggregate expenditure for land, buildings and equipment to date exceeds 68 million dollars.

THE UNITED STATES NAVAL ACADEMY

A new master 55 million dollar construction and rehabilitation program is underway. The key structure in this plan to help the Naval Academy fulfill its obligation in the Nuclear Age is the new science building, Michelson Hall, named for Albert Michelson, a graduate of the Class of 1873, and the first American to win a Nobel Prize for Physics. Michelson's success at measuring the speed of light in 1879, while on duty as an instructor in the Academy's science department, first brought him to the attention of the world. Michelson Hall will be located at the site of these epochal measurements. Construction began in the fall of 1965.

Appointment to the Academy

U. S. Citizens are appointed to the Academy without regard to race, creed, or national origin. Detailed descriptions of the entrance requirements and the course of instruction are contained in the U. S. Naval Academy Catalogue. Copies may be obtained from the Bureau of Naval Personnel (Pers B66), Washington, D. C., or from the Dean of Admissions, U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland.

GENERAL INFORMATION CONCERNING 1965 MIDSHIPMEN SUMMER PROGRAMS

AFLOAT CRUISES

The mission of the 1965 midshipmen afloat cruises was to provide midshipmen with a practical working knowledge of the fleet and the specific types of ships in which they were embarked, and at the same time to intensify their desire and love for the Navy and the sea.

The objectives of the cruises were to provide midshipmen with the facilities and the opportunities for afloat training and with the opportunity to visit various ports in order for them to:

- Develop a sense of attachment to, and pride in, ships and the seafaring way of life.
- Learn the organization of Navy ships and the responsibilities, duties, and privileges of the fighting men who live on board.
- Observe the employment, power, and mobility of naval forces.
- Apply knowledge acquired in the classroom in a sea environment.
- Broaden their cultural background.

The basic training concepts for midshipmen participating in the 1965 cruises were:

- Midshipmen First Class cruised on board fleet ships as midshipmen, but were assigned to and trained in junior officer billets. They were given opportunities to assume the responsibilities of junior officers in as many departments as practical during their cruise. They were assigned definite duties and responsibilities in these billets commensurate with their training status. Additionally, they were afforded essential wardroom indoctrination by berthing and messing in wardroom facilities to the maximum extent feasible.

- Midshipmen Third Class cruised in Atlantic and Pacific Midshipmen Training Squadrons which were formed for the express purpose of training USNA midshipmen. The training Squadrons made ports of call on the East and West Coasts of the United States, and Hawaii. The midshipmen were instructed and, as practical, permitted to assume various duties of ship's enlisted personnel. They were berthed and messed in enlisted spaces and facilities.
